Georgetown High School
Georgetown, Massachusetts

The Class Of 1975
Dedicates This Year's Georgian To
MR. FARETTA

Deciding who to dedicate the Yearbook to isn't easy. As we think back we remember the people that helped make our High School years an enjoyable experience. People who encouraged us, listened to our ideas, gave us confidence when we needed it most. The people we remember with respect and affection.

A lot of names came to mind this year, but one seemed to stand out above the rest. Mr. Faretta. It was a hard decision, but we think it was the right one. He was our teacher and advisor in our Junior year, but he's been much more than that, then and now — he's been our friend.

Thank You, Mr. Faretta

Model Airplane Club

The Model Airplane Club was formed in October of '74 by Mr. Denault to acquaint kids with the techniques involved in building and flying model aircraft. In addition to learning construction and design of models, the Club teaches its members the basic aerodynamic principles used in designing full scale planes.

The MAC has 21 members and an advisor, and became a Charter Member of the Academy of Model Aerodynamics in March.

The students learn flying with a basic frame model, and are encouraged to build their own, with Mr. Denault's assistance. Mr. Denault has several models to his credit, including a radio controlled biplane with 5 foot wingspan currently under construction.

Foreign Language Club

The FLC is an organization open to any student grades 9-12 enrolled in a foreign language course. The purpose of the club is to acquaint kids with cultures other than our own — to get to know the customs and habits of different people as well as learn their language.

The Foreign Language Club sponsors two main events during the school year; the first of which is attending International Day in Boston. This is an event where the people of various countries are represented with displays of food, art, clothing and dance. Arranged over three floors, people can participate in the different activities. Over 100 students from Georgetown went, not only having a good time, but a broadening one as well.

The second event is their annual trip to a French restaurant in Cambridge. 55 members got to sample such delicacies as French onion soup, a seafood neuberg and chocolate mousse, with tips on seasoning and eating by the chef who had prepared their meals.

Elmer W. Liebsch, Esquire

The Class of 1975 wishes to express its deep sense of loss at the passing of Mr. Liebsch last December. We will forever be appreciative of the time and dedication that Attorney Liebsch gave to the youth of Georgetown.

"Mike," as he was known to all of us, was instrumental in introducing the Hockey Team to Georgetown High School, and was always there to lend moral support to the team. Mike always responded with genuine interest towards the welfare of the students, whether it be in regard to their legal problems or their personal needs.

Mr. Liebsch will always be remembered by us with respect and affection.

Drama Club

The Drama Club is, as always, the largest and most popular organization at GHS — this past year with a membership exceeding 160 students. With this much talent to pick from, and a proficient and enthusiastic director, first class productions are assured.

Aside from the annual play, which is always the biggest event of the year, the Drama Club hosts a variety of activities for its members.

A 50's dance was held in November, where the kids could show off the latest in Bobby socks, slicked back hair and leather jackets, while bopping to the music of Danny and the Juniors, the Platters and the Crests. The DC also attended various plays by other organizations, and at Christmas went carolling at nursing homes in the area.

In addition, the Club awards scholarships to students deemed worthy by their dedication and participation in the Drama Club throughout their high school years.

Naturally, such a massive undertaking as the Drama Club requires an Advisor who is more than just a cut above the rest — and the club has her. To Miss Priv, all we can say is best wishes in future years — and break a leg.

Band and Chorus

Another growing organization at GHS is the Band. No longer merely a half-time diversion (remember last season when everybody went to the games and paid more attention to the Marching Band than to the football team) the members are finally getting the recognition they deserve. The reason for this is fairly simple — they're good. Good enough to have been invited to the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Virginia last Spring: The members got a chance to visit the Nation's Capitol as well as march in the Apple Blossom Parade and take part in a field competition.

The "Bandies," (as they are affectionately called by the less gifted members of the school's population) show unbelievable dedication to their organization, and the results are evident. We'd wish them luck, but it really isn't necessary — they've already got what it takes.

Wrestling

ROW 1 — J. Hamilton, K. Duggan, T. Perkins, M. Reed. ROW 2 — E. Blouin, J. Heil, S. Miller, G. Miller.

O.E.A.

The Office Education Association is an organization which teaches its members office practice and secretarial work. The girls in the OEA have proved outstanding in all work along these lines:

The OEA attended a State Convention in Hyannis, and came home with 15 awards; Diane Brockelbank was elected secretary to take Sue Meirs place on the State Board; and Sherri Holt won a scholarship. Not bad, huh?

They attended the National Convention in Chicago and had, as one member put it, "a fan-tastic time."

To raise money for the National Convention, the OEA held a series of fun-fund raising activities, including a 30 mile bike-a-thon to Plum Island and back, and a tag day where students could pin a person to be their slave, and make them do anything they wanted. Well, almost anything.

L'il Abner

Months of studying lines and scores; late practices; last minute changes; anger and frustration. Add them up and you get the greatest thing since the string bikini — you get a hit musical.

A cast of 63 combined to put on the Drama Club's greatest production to date. The way the cast brought to life the immortal Al Capp cartoon characters on May 15, 16, and 17 was an event well worth waiting for, and one that will be remembered for years to come.

A production like "L'il Abner" is going to be hard to beat — anywhere. But if it CAN be done, you'll see it in Georgetown High's auditorium.

Junior High

Often overlooked by older students (and in particular, the taller ones) is the Junior High. Certainly, at first glance they appear to be merely troublesome vermin whose one goal in life is to make A-Lunch look like World War III, while creating general havoc. However, the seventh and eighth graders DO have a place at GHS. Unfortunately, none of us have quite figured out just where that place is.

Seriously, though, the Junior High forms an integral part of our school, and so we wish to honor them with this page, and pay tribute to their excellent production of "Once Upon a Clothesline" with the next. Besides, when Class Day was cancelled we had these two pages left over, and it was too late in the year to put in anything else. (Pretty sneaky, huh?)

Student Advisory Committee

Though not widely known by the student body, the SAC has an important function in the school government: the SAC meets with the school committee to discuss possible improvements or changes needed in the High School.

Its members act as spokesmen for the students at school committee meetings and is, in effect, the bridge between the individual student and the school committee itself.

The SAC is the group responsible for bringing in the Red Cross Blood-Mobile on May 19, 1975, which allowed interested students and faculty to contribute to blood banks.

The SAC's most notable accomplishment was, perhaps, the "infamous" smoking area. After a tremendous amount of hassle and debate the SAC made it possible for students with parental consent to smoke in a designated area without the threat of suspension. The conditions were that the SAC start a cancer education program in the elementary grades and that the more or less deplorable condition of the basements would improve. And so, on Dec. 7, 1974, students were given an ash can, little cards identifying them as smokers, and an area under the music room where they could puff away their free periods.

Those without permission, however, continued to resort to the basements, guiltily taking on their "Nics" as they huddled near the urinals or crouched in the stalls.

So the basements weren't any cleaner, due to the above mentioned few, and to the fact that many of the bathroom vandals were non-smokers. On April 11th the smoking area was abandoned, not to be reinstated until the basements became cleaner. Just HOW the basements were to get cleaner now that all the smokers were back in there is a matter of debate, but the School Committee must have thought about that before they closed the area. Or DID they?

Smoking is "A custom loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs, and in the black stinking fume thereof nearest resembling the horrible stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless."

It takes more than good grades to be a member of the Honor Society. Aside from being academically superior, the students chosen must display leadership ability, service, good character, and citizenship. These are qualities that don't come naturally. They have to be developed over the years. It takes time. It takes effort.

You have to give a lot to be on the Honor Society. But then, the kids have got a lot to give.

Class Trip

By the way — I'll bet you couldn't tell that these pictures weren't taken by a photographer.

The Seniors went to the beautiful Berkshires for their class trip this year. They spent a few carefree days at a luxury resort, where they whiled away the hours swimming, drinking, horseback riding, drinking, lounging in the sun and drinking. It goes without saying that they had a great time.

It Was Good While It Lasted

But Now That It's Gone

Graduation is supposed to be a solemn occasion, signifying the students leaving the security of high school to join the "adult" world. It's also meant to be a happy time, a time to show the world that you've made it, you're through.

This year's graduation was something else, though. It was supposed to be outdoors, on the football field. We were all ready for it — had the platforms and chairs and equipment set up and ready to go. Then it started to rain. Okay, move everything into the gym, no problem. You could see how nervous everyone was by how excitedly they played frisbee with their caps, or by how they tried to see how many kids they could fit into one gown before it ripped. Really. Then everybody marched into the gym, where so many people were packed that those who were graduating didn't have room to sit down. It then became apparent that the temperature in the gym was about 240° , or roughly enough to cook eggs — which some of the more adroit guests used to their advantage in frying their lunches on the bleachers.

Some very nice speeches were made and the band played an excellent composition by Bob Knapp, but it was quite hard to show appreciation when you kept getting the distinct impression that everything below your neck had melted. Finally, diplomas were placed in sweaty hands, and after a touching tossie-turning ceremony the graduates marched out, only to discover that it had hardly rained at all, and graduation could have been held outside. Soon moments later caps and gowns were flung aside (much to the dismay of the rental people) and everyone was off for an evening of chain smoking, heavy drinking, boisterous merry-making and maybe a little fooling around.

Yep, Graduation was hot, monotonous, and maybe even a little ridiculous. But you know something — it was worth it.

This isn't an ad. This is my motorcycle. It's late and I'm tired and after I do page 141 I'm finished with the whole yearbook and I can't find any other pictures to put here and I want to go to bed so I can do page 141 tomorrow and finish the yearbook.

MERRIMACK VALLEY NATIONAL BANK

Well, that just about wraps it up. Summer's here, everybody's gone, and now memories are all we have left of our last year at GHS. Memories. Some bad, but a lot more good. Hope you've found on these pages the things you've liked best in High School.

It hasn't been easy, doing the yearbook. In fact it's been downright difficult. We've had more problems than you could shake a techni-cropper at, but I think it's been worth it. Hope you feel the same way.

I'd like to thank the following people — there were more but these are the main ones: Chris Johnson, Jessie Chanonhouse, Bert Hanlon, Micki Benjamin, Liz Field and Mr. Checkoway. Chris and Jessie for putting a lot of the book together, Bert and Micki for getting the ads. Liz, though she doesn't even go to school here spent a lot of her own materials and time photographing, developing and printing a lot of the ad pictures. In addition to being a great guy, Mr. Checkoway kept things under control and made us do things right. And if you've enjoyed the book, well, that's thanks enough for me.
